

The University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS) has announced a national search for their next Executive Vice Chancellor and Dean, College of Medicine.

Located in Little Rock, the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS) is the state's comprehensive provider of medical education, research and academically based clinical care. UAMS offers 73 baccalaureate, master's, doctoral, professional and specialist degree programs and certificates through Colleges of Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, Health Professions, Public Health, and a graduate school.

The College of Medicine comprises more than 700 medical students, nearly 700 medical residents, and more than 1,500 faculty spread across 22 clinical and seven basic science departments. UAMS is home to a thriving research enterprise and is supported by a Clinical and Translational Science Award (CTSA) from the National Institutes of Health.

The Executive Vice Chancellor and Dean ("Dean") is the chief academic and executive officer of the College of Medicine (COM) and performs a key role in the strategic development of the UAMS Health System while providing leadership for the integration of education and research activities with the clinical enterprise. The Dean will directly oversee all education and research functions, all clinical and basic science departments and appointment of College faculty.
