

Director of Heart Institute | Johns Hopkins All Children's Hospital
St. Petersburg, Florida

Johns Hopkins All Children's Hospital (JHACH) is seeking nominations and applications for the position of Director of the Heart Institute and Chief of Pediatric Cardiovascular Surgery. JHACH is a fully integrated member of Johns Hopkins Medicine, which includes Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine and The Johns Hopkins Hospital and Health System.

The Heart Institute is one of four Institutes at Johns Hopkins All Children's Hospital. The other institutes are the Cancer and Blood Disorders Institute, Institute for Brain Protection Sciences, and the Maternal Fetal & Neonatal Institute. The Institutes' backbone is a well-established clinical service line, encompassing the full continuum of care, enhanced and supported by research, education, quality and safety and patient advocacy. The Institutes' organizational structure is matrix-based and led by the Institute Medical Director in collaboration with a Senior Director of Administration and a Senior Director of Nursing. The clinical infrastructure of The Heart Institute consists of a 22-bed cardiovascular ICU, 2 cardiovascular OR's, 2 cardiac cath/EP labs, and ECMO.

Johns Hopkins All Children's Hospital seeks a Pediatric Cardiovascular Surgeon with a proven track record for vision and leadership who can create a world-class program at the Heart Institute. The successful candidate will hold a faculty appointment with Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine at the Associate Professor or Professor level. The Director of the Heart Institute will lead a top-notch clinical and research team that includes two pediatric cardiovascular surgeons, 15 pediatric cardiologists, as well as pediatric critical care and anesthesia faculty. The Heart Institute provides the full spectrum of clinical care ranging from interventional cardiology to heart transplantation.

Johns Hopkins All Children's Hospital is a leader in children's health care, combining a legacy of compassionate care focused solely on children since 1926 with the innovation and experience of one of the world's leading health care systems. The 259-bed teaching hospital, built on a new campus in 2010, ranked as a US. News & World Reports Best Children's Hospital, stands at the forefront of discovery, leading cutting-edge research to cure and prevent childhood diseases while training the next generation of pediatric experts. The campus also includes an adjacent clinical building and a new research building that will be opened in 2018 with ample space to develop research interests within the Heart Institute and its research collaborators.
