

Chicago, IL -- Trinity Health is seeking a transformational, innovative, and inspirational President and Chief Executive Officer (CEO) to lead Trinity Health Illinois and Loyola Medicine. The Trinity Health Illinois region consists of Loyola Medicine, which consists of Loyola University Medical Center (LUMC), Gottlieb Memorial Hospital and MacNeal Hospital.

Chicago, and Loyola Medicine, is the largest market within the Trinity Health System, and Trinity Health Illinois represents approximately 7.7 percent of the System's total revenue. With the recent acquisition of MacNeal Hospital and more than $350 million invested in LUMC, Gottlieb Memorial Hospital and Loyola University Chicago Stritch School of Medicine, Trinity Health continues to invest in the market. The next CEO will be approaching an organization primed for continued growth and with an opportunity to gain market share in a hyper-competitive Chicago market.

The CEO will provide strategic leadership and operational direction in the development and execution of regional strategic and operating plans that align with overall system strategies. She/he will lead the development of a vibrant regional healthcare ministry that reflects community needs, achieves organizational goals and advances the philosophy, mission and vision of Trinity Health.

The ideal candidate will have current or past experience in an Academic Medical Center or Council of Teaching Hospital, stellar physician relationships, and be able to operate effectively in a collaborative, matrixed environment. Additionally, candidates must possess a strong and successful track record in strategic planning, operations and building strong effective teams. We are looking for individuals with strong emotional and social intelligence, and an understanding and ability to implement new care models. A demonstrated ability to connect with others in a meaningful way at all levels of the organization and in the community is essential.

Please direct all confidential inquiries, nominations and resumes to James U. King, III and Linda Komnick through the office of Jason P. Petros preferably via email at jasonp@wittkieber.com or by phone at 630-575-6156.
