Chief, Section of Hematology
Associate Professor or Professor

Faculty Position, Yale Cancer Center, Yale School of Medicine.

The Yale Cancer Center invite applications from board-certified/board eligible hematologists/medical oncologists to serve as the Chief for the Section of Hematology. The incumbent should have a demonstrated academic record consistent with the level of Associate Professor or Professor at Yale School of Medicine. In addition to being active clinically, this position has the administrative responsibility of overseeing the Section of Hematology, which includes faculty committed to lymphoid and myeloid malignancies, stem cell transplantation, and benign hematology. The incumbent will have responsibility for the clinical and academic activities of the Section, strategic planning, faculty recruitment and retention, and faculty development/mentorship. Of particular importance is experience building an leading extramurally funded programs in clinical, translational, or basic science research, a track record as an accomplished individual investigator, mentorship of young investigators, oversight of a growing clinical operation, and building strong cooperative teams across disciplines. This position involves research activities, expectations for participating in the teaching mission, and a commitment to clinical medicine. Yale values diversity in its faculty, students, and staff and strongly encourages applications from women, members of minority groups, persons with disabilities, and protected veterans. Review of applications will begin immediately and continue until the position is filled.

The executive search firm Spencer Stuart is assisting the Yale Cancer Center, Yale School of Medicine with this important search. All application materials, including CV and a letter describing qualifications or nominations can be submitted to Carol Savvas at csavvas@spencerstuart.com.

Yale University School of Medicine is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer.