

City of Hope National Medical Center in Duarte, California is seeking an exceptional academic leader to serve as the Chief of the Division of Urology and Urologic Oncology within the Department of Surgery. Founded in 1913, City of Hope is a non-profit NCI Designated Comprehensive Cancer Center focused on cutting edge treatment of patients with cancer and other catastrophic diseases. Home to one of five Beckman Research Institutes, the City of Hope campus is also a center of robust clinical, translational, and basic science research programs.

The Division of Urology and Urologic Oncology at City of Hope is based within the Department of Surgery. The Division currently consists of sixteen faculty between the main campus and community-based sites in addition to five advanced practice providers. The Division is also the academic home to a Urologic Oncology fellowship and a thriving clinical enterprise including a nationally known robotic surgery program.

As an international referral center for complex patients, the clinical and basic science research opportunities at City of Hope are vast. We are seeking a chief who has strong interest in leveraging those research opportunities to create robust research programs in the division and in strong collaboration with the other clinical departments on the City of Hope campus and departments within the Beckman Research Institute. The incoming chief will enjoy state of the art clinical and research facilities along with ample resources to further develop a world class academic program that aligns with the mission of the City of Hope.

The successful candidate will be able to prioritize, grow, and support the current excellence in patient care and will also develop clinical research opportunities for existing faculty as well as identify additional recruits to help grow the scholarly activities of the department. We are seeking applicants who are board certified by the American Board of Urology and have either a fellowship or extensive expertise in urologic oncology and are eligible for the Associate Professor or Professor rank and who have a demonstrated track record of leadership, program development, strong clinical reputation, and scholarly excellence. The incoming chief should also be passionate about mentoring current and future faculty and staff.

To discuss the position by phone, send your curriculum vitae to Cody Futch, Vice President of Academic Recruiting, at Merritt Hawkins to cody.futch@merrithawkins.com and reference job number 33683. We are currently accepting applications and the search committee will begin reviewing applications in July, 2016.

City of Hope is an equal opportunity employer who values diversity and candidates of all backgrounds are encouraged to apply.