

Atlanta, GA - Children's Healthcare of Atlanta (Children's) and Emory University School of Medicine (Emory) are seeking a visionary and collaborative physician leader with a strong clinical and academic foundation to serve as Division Chief, Anesthesiology (Chief). This position offers an exciting leadership opportunity to head pediatric anesthesiology for one of the largest and foremost children's healthcare systems in the U.S.

Children's Healthcare of Atlanta (Children's) is an academic integrated pediatric health system with a mission to make kids better today and healthier tomorrow. As a top pediatric healthcare system nationally and the only freestanding pediatric healthcare system in Georgia, Children's continues to grow. It has been a trusted leader in caring for kids for over 100 years. As a community-focused organization providing leading-edge healthcare, Children's formed an integral partnership with Emory, an institution dedicated to academic excellence and fostering scholars. Emory consists of 3,400 full-time faculty and, in 2023, faculty received $700 million in external research funding.

The Division of Pediatric Anesthesiology includes over 65 physicians and 25 Nurse Practitioners who serve patients at five locations, including the brand-new, state-of-the-art, 450-bed Arthur M. Blank Hospital, which opened in 2024. As the director of the Division, the Chief will lead program development, faculty and workforce recruitment and retention, and the advancement of innovation and educational excellence of two fellowship programs within the Division.

This individual will be an outstanding clinical and academic leader with a demonstrated ability to set a vision, position the team to execute, and effectively inspire, manage, and mentor others. This position requires an individual who has a passion for providing outstanding care, a desire to improve systems, and the leadership to engage physicians in team-based care. The next Chief will demonstrate collaboration with multiple partners and stakeholders and be a visible leader.

The successful candidate will have a track record of clinical and academic leadership within leading academic institutions and complex pediatric hospital settings. MD or DO credentials from an accredited school of medicine, Board Certification in Pediatric Anesthesiology by the American Board of Anesthesiology, and eligibility for licensure in Georgia is required. Qualified candidates must possess academic accomplishments that merit appointment at the rank of Associate Professor or higher at Emory. An advanced degree is a plus.
