

Division Head of Hematology / Oncology
Henry Ford Health System
Detroit, Michigan

Henry Ford Health System (HFHS) located in Detroit, Michigan, one of the world's most distinguished academic medical centers, is seeking nominations and applications for the position of Division Head of the Division of Hematology/Oncology. The Division Head will provide oversight for the Hematology/Oncology (HemOnc) Division within the Department of Medicine for the Henry Ford Medical Group (HFMG) and will be a senior leader providing insight and guidance to the Henry Ford Cancer Institute (HFCl) Clinical Council with a focus on a System-wide strategy for growth within Hematology and Oncology.

Henry Ford Health System seeks a Malignant Hematologist or Medical Oncologist with a proven track record of building/growth and leadership who can bring an identity of national prominence to the Division of Hematology/Oncology. The Division Head should have a strong academic background and be prepared to build a thriving research enterprise in translational science and clinical trials, to include investigator initiated clinical trials, throughout the Division. Clinically the Division Head will drive growth with a focus on pathways of care and development of more disease-specific care. The Division Head is also responsible for advancing the medical education mission and ensuring a robust, innovative fellowship program and an environment of scholarly inquiry. The incumbent will report to the Chair, Department of Medicine and to the System Medical Director, Henry Ford Cancer Institute.

The Division of Hematology/Oncology provides care at multiple satellite clinic sites and three health system hospitals with the intent of supporting the continued expansion and integration of HemOnc and Infusion services in a pluralistic model where appropriate and a fully integrated model when possible. S/he will work closely with Hematologists and Medical Oncologists, Department of Medicine Division Heads, and other Chairs and leaders within Henry Ford Medical Group and Henry Ford Health System to develop and implement best practices for inpatient and outpatient care. The Division Head will be a practicing member of the Hematology/Oncology Division.

Based on the candidate's experience and background, additional system-level major leadership roles and responsibilities within the Henry Ford Cancer Institute will be possible as we enhance our affiliations with our academic partners and prepare a pathway toward National Cancer Institute designation status.
