

Vanderbilt University Medical Center
Leadership Opportunity
Director, Pediatric Maltreatment Program, Section Director Child Abuse
Pediatrics

Vanderbilt University Medical Center is seeking a fellowship-trained child abuse pediatrician to lead its program with the opportunity to create a new fellowship program. This outstanding section head and program medical director will be responsible for all aspects of the child protection and well-being program, including administrative, clinical, educational, advocacy, and scholarship. The right candidate will have three years of fellowship training and a growth-oriented mindset.

Faculty positions are available as well.

Opportunity Highlights

- Leadership opportunity at a highly ranked, major academic center
- Protective time for advocacy, policy development, community education, and outreach, and medical education
- Rebuild an established program and make it your own

Community Information

Enjoy a Southern location voted a top-10 U.S. city. You'll enjoy Southern hospitality, high quality of life, and a low cost of living. Appreciate a small-town feel in a city brimming with creativity, energy, and lots to do.

- A low cost of living in family-friendly neighborhoods
- A fast-growing city with a booming healthcare industry
- Various sports teams, excellent schools, and affordable housing
- World-famous barbecue, eclectic music, and fantastic nightlife

To apply, provide recommendations, or to request additional information on this opportunity, please contact: Ashlie Korb of Merritt Hawkins. Interested candidates should provide their curriculum vitae and a letter of interest outlining key leadership experiences to Ashlie.Korb@merrithawkins.com. All interactions will remain confidential.

