

Session Summary

Raja Sundaram will explore how early injured worker engagement, coordinated care planning, and behavioral insights improve recovery outcomes in workers' compensation programs. The session highlights how early risk identification and recovery-focused data enable proactive decision-making, better worker experiences, and sustainable cost containment.

Raja Sundaram is the CEO of Plethy, where he focuses on reshaping the patient experience through a digital health hybrid care model that supports recovery in the home. A transformational leader, he leverages bio-psycho-social, data-driven engagement and analytics to personalize care, accelerate recovery, and drive sustainable cost reduction. Raja previously held senior leadership roles at Cisco Systems and other innovative organizations across multiple industries.