Digital Threat Assessment (DTA) was developed by Safer Schools Together through the need to keep pace with the evolving technology challenges that affect school and public safety today. The vast majority of recent school violence attacks have had precursors leaked online in the form of social media posts. Knowing where, how, and when to look for this critical information is the current challenge this nation faces, and it is one this training will thoroughly address.

DTA will cover the challenges that frontline investigators and school staff are currently facing including: anonymous online threats, fake accounts, sexting and sextortion, geolocational utilities and their dangers, image verification of firearms and suicidal imagery, and searching Instagram by school location & without needing to have an Instagram account.

Successful student threat assessments cannot be determined without looking at the social media and online activity of the threat maker. It is imperative to understand the tools and methods available to you to identify and manage online threat related behavior. DTA will use real-life case examples from subject matter expert work across North America during this training. A significant portion of the day will be spent doing hands-on searching exercises on the most current social media sites and applications.

Note:

You will need to use a laptop, Macbook, Microsoft Surface or Google Chromebook to get the most from the hands-on portion of the training. Tablets are not compatible with some aspects of the training, and iPads have limited searching capabilities. Your computer will need to have firewalls disabled and unrestricted Wi-Fi access for this training. Please test your connectivity to a public network before attending. It is also strongly recommended that you have an Instagram account in place to get the most out of this training.
