Where Compassion Meets Community

If Death had a name, what would it be?

Virtual Millennial Edition

Die-alogues is a series of discussion groups intended to start meaningful conversations about death, dying, loss and grief in our community. In this Millennial Edition, topics will focus on introducing the Death Positive Movement, discussing little-known eco-friendly options related to end of life, and considerations of how social media and new digital resources intersect with our end of life.

This program is open to all and free of cost. Registration is required.
