

Rogers International School Day at the Stamford Symphony

Sunday, November 5th, is Rogers International School Day at the Stamford Symphony!

The Stamford Symphony has donated tickets for its November 5th concert to Rogers School! We are selling them for $15 each. Our school keeps 100% of the proceeds to help to fund arts programs for our school.

The November 5th concert begins at 3 pm and provides a wonderful opportunity for our students and their families to visit the Symphony and explore the magnificent music of Brahms, Beethoven, Ravel, and Stravinsky, at the Palace Theatre, in downtown Stamford. Orion Weiss, piano, will be the featured soloist, and Daniel Hege will be our guest conductor.

Please join us in the Upper Lobby before the concert, at 2 PM, for MusiKids, a 40 minute, interactive music education experience that will help children understand the afternoon's performance and provide an opportunity to meet one of the talented musicians. Also available is the pre-concert Behind-the-Baton program, a 30 minute program beginning at 2 PM, for older children (13+) and adults, presented by the conductor in the concert hall.

Order your ticket(s) now by completing the form below and returning it to Diana Toomey-Wilson before October 31st, along with your check payable to Rogers PTO. You may also register via the RIS Payment Portal www.rispto.org. This is a perfect opportunity to support our school, make money for our organization, and hear some incredible music with your family.
