Fostering a Dog: A Life-Changing Experience

THE STORY OF ELLIE

"Fostering with Justin Bartlett has been a rewarding experience, all thanks to the volunteers who have made the process comforting and simple."

-Tayler Macy (Ellie's Foster Parent)

When Tayler Macy decided to become a foster parent for a dog, she had no idea the profound impact it would have on her life. As a long-time dog lover, she had always wanted to make a difference in the lives of animals, and fostering seemed like the perfect way to do it. She started fostering because her job was right next to our hospital and rescue and she would notice the surplus of dogs there were with no safe home. She knew fostering was something that would help.

For those who may not be familiar, fostering is the process of temporarily caring for a rescue dog in your home, with the goal of finding them a forever home. Foster parents provide a safe and loving environment for the dog to live in, as well as basic care such as feeding, exercise, and training.

Tayler's foster dog was a sweet, energetic Boxer Mix named Ellie. Ellie was in our care for 2 years before Tayler came along. Tayler gave Ellie a safe space to live until she is ready to be adopted. Ellie now enjoys the company of Tayler's adopted dog Sasha. Ellie is still waiting for her forever home and Tayler says anyone would be lucky to call Ellie their own.

But fostering isn't just about finding a forever home for the dog; it also has numerous benefits for both the foster parent and the dog. Fostering allows people to experience the joy of dog ownership without long-term commitment. It also gives people the opportunity to learn more about different breeds and temperaments, which helps in making a more informed decision when it comes to adopting a dog of their own.

For the dog, fostering provides a much-needed respite from the stressful and often overcrowded conditions of a rescue. It also helps to socialize and prepare them for life in a forever home, making them more adoptable.

So why is fostering dogs so important? In short, it saves lives. By providing a temporary home for a rescue dog, you are giving them a second chance at finding their forever family.

If you're considering fostering a dog, we highly recommend it. Not only will it bring joy and love into your life, but you'll also be making a difference in the life of a deserving dog. Who knows, you may even end up with a furry family member of your own!

Fostering at Justin Bartlett is free, we only ask that you give the pet the love and attention it deserves. We provide everything from food, toys, beds, and medicine. If you are interested in becoming a foster parent for a pet or adopting Ellie, please visit our website.

PET TIP OF THE MONTH

DENTAL CARE

Proper dental care is essential for the overall health and well-being of your pet. Just like humans, pets can suffer from tooth decay, gum disease, and other oral health problems if their teeth are not properly cared for. To keep your pet's teeth healthy, it is important to brush their teeth regularly using a toothbrush and toothpaste designed specifically for pets. You can also provide your pet with dental chews and treats, and have regular cleanings done by a veterinarian.

By establishing a dental care routine and staying on top of your pet's oral health, you can help prevent serious health issues and ensure that your furry friend has a long and happy life. Don't neglect your pet's teeth - they are an important part of their overall health and well-being.

In summary, proper dental care is essential for the health of your pet. Brush their teeth regularly, provide dental chews and treats, and have regular cleanings done by a veterinarian to keep your pet's teeth healthy and prevent serious health issues.

"Good oral health is essential to a pet's overall well-being, and regular dental care can add years to their life. Just like humans, pets can suffer from tooth decay and gum disease if their teeth are not properly cared for."

SUCCESS STORY

PEANUT

One hot summer day in Miami, Florida, a police officer was on patrol in the swamp. As he was driving along, he noticed something in the tall grass. As he got closer, he realized it was a small dog, covered in mud and debris.

The Miami officer quickly stopped his patrol car and got out to investigate. The dog was clearly lost and alone, and it looked like it had been struggling to survive in the swamp for quite some time.

He slowly approached the dog, untangled him from the grass, and could see that the dog was skinny and malnourished, and it had strangles on his face and ticks on his body.

The police officer brought him to us, where we named him Peanut. We took him in, cleaned him up, and gave him some medicine to heal his wounds.

Thanks to our doctors and volunteers at Justin Bartlett Animal Rescue, Peanut is now with a loving owner in a safe home and doing great!

If you are interested in having your own success story, consider adopting from our rescue! For more information, click here.
