Lifelong Learning Academy Leadership Luncheon

Chatham Ballroom

The 2018 Annual Conference kicks off with a renewed appreciation of lifelong learning. Certificate recipients in both the specialty and core programs in the Lifelong Learning Academy are recognized. In addition, the ACCG Leadership Development Advocate of the Year Award is presented. The luncheon is highlighted by the presentation of Lt. Col (Retired) Rob “Waldo” Waldman “Never Fly Solo.” U.S. Air Force fighter pilots undergo elite, specialized training to accomplish their mission. Through his engaging personal story of overcoming claustrophobia and a fear of heights to serving as a combat pilot in some of today’s most troubled regions, Lt. Col. Waldo Waldman will share how committing to excellence, preparing for change and engaging to win can help your county soar to new heights.

Opening Keynote Session

Chatham Ballroom

ACCG's 2018 Annual Conference focuses on People ... Places ... and Perspectives – and the ways an understanding of these three elements bring us together to accomplish more for Georgia's counties. ACCG President Allen Poole of Haralson County opens the conference and delegates are welcomed by Chatham County Commission Chairman Al Scott and Savannah Mayor Eddie DeLoach. Chatham County Youth Commissioner A'Lani Coppock performs the National Anthem to honor America. The ACCG Civic Engagement Advocate of the Year Award and Youth Leadership Award are presented too.

“Gaining the Edge”
David Horsager

David Horsager sets the tone in this opening session with his keynote address on a timely and relevant topic entitled “Gaining the Edge.” Trust in government is a concept that is often discussed, yet trust can take years to build, seconds to break and much time to repair. David Horsager is a leading expert on trust and how it’s built into everything from individual relationships to how government entities can function effectively. As a bestselling author of The Trust Edge and one of the leaders of the largest national study on trust, The Trust Outlook, he will provide insight on the trust gap in our political system and how you as local leaders can help to build, earn and share trust in government.

Continuing Education Sessions

- “Dealing with New Stresses: Mental Health and Substance Abuse in Your Community”
Rooms 105/106
Increasing numbers of mental health and substance abuse cases in our communities is a growing concern for counties, especially as they impact budgets and quality of life. Learn about available state resources to assist counties in addressing the issues that are developing due to this trend. Hear about ways your county can assist to aid these individuals while looking out for the overall health of your citizens. There will also be an update on the status of the national opioid lawsuit.
- “911 and Broadband: The 2018 Legislative Changes”
Rooms 103/104
Learn more detail about the legislation just passed this year on the 9-1-1 systems from Michael Nix, Director of the Georgia Local Government 9-1-1 Authority. ACCG Deputy Legislative Director will then update you on the broadband legislation passed recently and answer all your questions.
- “What the Stock Market Means to You, Your Employees and Your County’s Retirement Planning”
Gwinnett Room
The session will cover the fundamentals of retirement planning including goal setting, ways to build a retirement nest egg, and investment options. ACCG Retirement Services Client Manager Robert Kim, CIMA®, leads the discussion.
- “U.S. Communities – Saving Time and Money”
Greene Room
US Communities aggregates the purchasing power of more than 90,000 public agencies nationwide by offering Participating Public Agencies the ability to make purchases through existing, competitively solicited contracts between a supplier and a lead public agency. It’s free to sign up so let’s start saving time and money today! Presenting is Scott Whitfield, Regional Development Manager, NACo FSC
- “Youth Engagement in Your County”
Pulaski Room
Learn about the ACCG Civic Affairs Foundation’s efforts to engage youth in your county through the Georgia County Internship Program and Georgia Civic Awareness for Students (GCAPS). Panelists discuss their experiences on both topics, and counties who have offered internships will share their successes. Sharing their stories are Mary Parrott, Fayette County Chief Financial Officer; Kathy Gill, Bartow County Clerk; and Spencer Mueller, Early County Administrator.
