San Juan County WSU Master Gardeners 2021 Gardening Workshop Series

Please join us for the San Juan County WSU Master Gardener Annual Gardening Workshop presented again in 2021 as a Gardening Workshop Series. The lectures are a series of webinars, provided by Zoom. It is open to all gardeners!

The 2021 Gardening Workshop Series will be held in October 2021. The sessions start with two sessions on Saturday morning, October 16, and again on Tuesday, October 19, Thursday, October 21 and Tuesday, October 26. We are offering eight (8) one hour presentations with additional time after each for questions and discussion. Our speakers are WSU professors, scientists, professional gardeners and accomplished Master Gardeners who will share their knowledge, experience and beautiful photographs of plants, flowers and garden insects.

Our keynote speaker is Master Gardener and adaptive gardening expert Toni Gattone. Toni, who hails from the San Francisco Bay area, is the author of The Lifelong Gardener. Other speakers include Whidbey island horticulturalist Tobey Nelson, WSU vegetable scientist Dr. Carol Miles, PNW entomologist Dr. Linda Gilkeson, and Master Gardener and virtual hands on pruning instructor, Monica Maggio.

Registered participants will be granted access to the presentations for a full month. We will send a link to the recordings after each day of presentations.

The schedule of presentations and speakers is at gardenworkshop.org. Please join us for eight hours of delightful, educational and inspiring presentations at $35 for eight (8) hours of Master Gardener Continuing Education. Registration will close October 12.
