

The Mayor's Youth Employment Program (MYEP) has been employing Malden youth for a number of years. In the summer and year round programs combined, over 200 Malden youth are gainfully employed at a multitude of worksites throughout the City, with more than 30 businesses providing the students with meaningful employment. The program allows students over the age of 14 the opportunity to work and earn money while providing job skills and career training.

The program is a hybrid model providing youth employment along with weekly career readiness training classes. Job placements include daycare centers, technology and advertisement organizations, city departments, after school programs, and more. Students are introduced to career-based programming such as healthcare, web design, and data analysis enabling them to experience different skillsets while earning money. The Signal Success classes offer them the ability to gain skills they can use in the workforce in the future.

The goal is to ensure that youth are able to access critical education, training and career development services so that they are able to enter the workforce and build economic self-sufficiency.
