

by Debbie Rorabaugh Debbie.Rorabaugh@cort.com

We look forward to visiting National Parks and other parks for hiking, kayaking, and enjoying the outdoors. So far we have visited over 25 parks and have enjoyed them immensely. We are privileged to have Great Falls National Park just miles from our house where you can enjoy the C&O canal as well as hear the thunder water going over the falls. We visited the newest national park, New River Gorge, a few years ago. We found an awesome spot to watch the bridge come out of the morning fog. Valley of Fire, while not a national park, was full of wonderful colors and petroglyphs. Our latest adventure this summer was Acadia National Park. We had a wonderful time hiking many trails, including the Beehive trail which is challenging with lots of climbing and narrow passages. Before we left Maine we visited as many lighthouses as possible. Feel free to let me know your favorite park or ask me a question any that I've visited.

New River Gorge

Valley of Fire

Valley of Fire

Fort Williams Lighthouse

Acadia National Park

