

Gratitude for our Customers

An elderly man came to our shop to donate his wife's clothes after her passing. He told us that when she was a schoolgirl back east, her family was helped with food and clothing by the local Assistance League. She never forgot that and always donated her belongings to Assistance League, no matter where she lived. We are grateful that she thrived and remembered us.

This month we celebrated Veterans Day and to our great fortune, a young Navy veteran came to shop and began chatting with our own Pam Ross, an Army veteran who has lived all over the world. He purchased the jacket he is wearing from our shop because he said his Dad had one like it. They expressed their thanks to each other as we do to them.

We are grateful to Mary, a regular customer, who has brought us hundreds of toiletry items that will be used in our Assisteens programs, Project Seniors and into next summer at our Operation School Bell annual visit to Camp Pendleton to help military families.

We love Rosalia, another regular customer, who comes in whenever we have big reductions in clothing prices and stocks up for all the homeless people she helps on a regular basis, especially in the colder weather.
