BUFFERS & WATERWAYS—FIELD DAY

Wednesday, October 16, 2019 11:00 am-1:00 pm

Mountain Meadows Farm

Corner of Vail Road and Old Sawmill Road (Sudbury, VT) (follow signs to exact field location)

Grassed waterways and buffers are conservation practices that can be easily implemented to prevent erosion and nutrient runoff from happening in fields. Regardless of the crop being grown, these sensitive areas within fields and near waterways should be protected. They can be easily implemented and maintained for little cost. Join Champlain Valley Farmer Coalition President, Brian Kemp, at his farm in Sudbury/Orwell to see how he has used grassed waterways and buffers on his farm. We will see annual and perennial fields with grassed waterways, simple ditch buffers, as well as a stream buffer along the Lemon Fair. We will also talk with our partners at NRCS to hear about potential funding for these practices as well.
