We will spend 4 nights at the Hotel La Tripergola near Naples where we will dive the Underwater Archeological Park of Baia. We will explore the underwater ruins of a sunken Roman village dating back to the first century BC! Before we leave for Sardinia, there will be the opportunity for an optional tour to Pompeii and Herculaneum.

A friend that lives in Rome has told me that the best place to dive in Italy is the island of Sardinia. We will spend 5 nights at the beautiful, picturesque Hotel Costa Paradiso. Sardinia is famous for food, wine and diving.

Sardinia is often described as containing the best diving in Italy and perhaps the best throughout the Mediterranean. Technical divers love the area's caves, history-lovers are fascinated by the wrecks and beginners can ease into the water on a variety of shore dives.

Among the sandy sea beds, maze-like caves and fascinating rock formations, divers have the opportunity to find eagle rays, tuna, groupers, barracudas, the elusive sun fish (March-June), dolphins, octopus, slipper lobsters, the Mediterranean bamboo shark, pipefish, breams, squid, crabs, scorpion fish and moray eels.

Sponges, sea fans and red corals are also visible. Nudibranchs, sea horses,

Pinna nobilis fan mussels and other macro life can be spotted year round.
