

5th Grade Lesson Plans

January 15-19, 2018

Math: This week we'll begin dividing with 2-digit divisors. Estimating and checking our work with multiplication will be important parts of our work.

Literacy: Students have chosen a debate topic and are researching either high-risk sports, exploration, or the impacts of social media. We will be discussing how to analyze the quality of a source and continuing to research this week.

Social Studies: The map plan is literally taking shape! This week we will be taking a look at elevation maps specifically as we make dough and build the map.

Birch Buddies: We had an amazing time exploring the snow last week! We were able to put our survival skills to the test of a winter setting, with great success! This week we will start exploring our next big unit - tracking.

PE: More sledding and snow games are in store this week.

Spanish: We will practice describing professionals (mechanic, athlete) with adjectives (caring, brave) in agreement.

Art: No art because of our in-service.

Music: We will continue to explore what makes a musical.
