

Bio –

Cindy Lin is an adjunct instructor at WorldQuant University and the author of Mindful Data, a newsletter exploring how AI is transforming investment research. She focuses on leveraging open-source and AI tools to streamline research workflows and democratize access to quantitative finance. Cindy also serves as a committee member of 100 Women in Fintech, where she supports and mentors the next generation of finance professionals.