

Children's Treatment Network

Share your experience.

Help improve services for families.

Your lived experience matters.

Children's Treatment Network (CTN) is looking for families to review training materials and share feedback through short surveys to help us to better understand and respond to the diverse experiences, backgrounds and needs of the families we support.

Honorarium provided for your time.

What's involved?

Participation is flexible. From Sept. to Dec. 2026, you choose how many training packages to review.

45 minutes
to review training materials

10-minute
feedback survey

20-minute survey
at the end of the project

Who can participate?

We welcome family members of all backgrounds, identities, cultures, languages and abilities who have a child with a disability and/or developmental need to participate. Translation of training packages is available.

No special knowledge is needed - just a willingness to share your perspectives.

Why your voice matters.

We need your feedback to help make sure the training reflects the real experiences of families.

This work is part of CTN's ongoing commitment to advancing practices in equity, diversity, inclusion, Indigeneity and accessibility and our vision of a vibrant community where all kids, youth and families belong.

Interested in participating?

Scan the QR code or visit www.ctnsy.ca to share your contact information. You can also email Ashley Slater at aslater@ctnsy.ca.

Better Together: A vibrant community where all kids, youth and families belong.