Participants will join fellow colleagues for two virtual events to increase educators’ knowledge and skills to address students who exhibit behavior that interferes with learning. The Virginia Department of Education’s Office of Student Services Defusing Disruptive Behavior online modules will be the foundation for discussions with fellow educators during each session.

The goal of the Community of Practice is to engage with colleagues to discuss the principles of behavior, the escalation cycle, and evidence-based practices to support students and staff.

Target Audience: K-12 Educators
