

What do you think God wants us to notice today?

Where did you see someone showing kindness?

What do you think Jesus would do on a summer day like this?

How can we be a light to someone today?

What's one thing you're thankful for right now?

