

PG&E Power Shutoff

PG&E forecasts high winds and low humidity on Wednesday, October 9 through noon on Thursday, October 10. PG&E will turn off power as soon as noon on Wednesday.

To view PG&E's Outage Map of the potentially impacted areas, visit www.pge.com/psps.

BE PREPARED

PG&E will send customers alerts about their Public Safety Power Shutoffs. Sign up to receive alerts from PG&E or ensure your contact information is up to date at pge.com/psps or by calling 1-866-743-6589.

Prepare an emergency kit and plan with seven days worth of supplies that accounts for all family members and pets.

During the PG&E Power Shutoff, don't drive if you can avoid it. Traffic signals and streetlights in the affected areas will not work, so please drive with caution:

- Once the power is out, limit your driving as much as possible.
- Approach intersections with caution.
- Stop at dark signals.
- Obey all road closures and detours.
- Avoid driving at night if possible.
- If you must drive at night, use your headlights, stay alert, and be on the lookout for people walking and biking. There will be no streetlights to illuminate them.
- If you must walk or bike after dark, use a headlight or flashlight. Wear bright or reflective clothing. Wear a helmet if biking.

For tips on how to prepare, visit www.sanjoseca.gov or www.pge.com/psps.

RESOURCES

If you rely on electricity for medical care and live in an impacted area, please be aware of the following instructions:

- Please contact your family, medical providers, friends, or neighbors for assistance during this time.
- If you experience a medical emergency, please call 911.
- It may take up to 7 days to restore power.
- Please store a list of your medications and where to find them inside the fridge in case response workers need to find them.
- If you have refrigerated medications, please limit the time you open the fridge in order to keep the medicines cool for as long as possible.
- You can charge medical devices at a resource center (see reverse side).
- For up to date information, you may call 408-535-3500 or visit sanjoseca.gov/pgeshutoff.
