Dental Assistant Career Diploma

POLHN through PENNFOSTER
improving Pacific Healthcare Through eLearning CAREER SCHOOL

Background

- Interest from American Samoan oral health staff for dental assistants to participate in the Penn Foster program.
- Discussed with POLHN in early 2013.
- POLHN Secretariat liaised with Penn Foster to arrange a pilot offering with 13 dental assistant participants.
- WHO/POLHN covers the cost of tuition for each participant and holds regular teleconferences with dental assistant learners and supervisors to monitor learner progress.
- Plans for face-to-face skills validation in early 2014 and formal presentation of certificates.

Before Learners Start: Dental Care

- Successful applicants through POLHN need to complete 5 online courses before starting the diploma program.
- Recommended courses through www.dentalcare.com
- Over 100 1- 3 hour courses for dental assistants and dentists.

Penn Foster Diploma objectives

Penn Foster's Dental Assistant Career Diploma helps learners gain knowledge and skills to:

- Assist dentists with lab tasks and procedures
- Communicate with and instruct patients in proper dental hygiene
- Disinfect dental tools properly
- Manage a dental office

Dental Assistant Training in American Samoa – A Model for the Region

<http://courses.polhncourses.org/course/category.php?id=39>

Through this pilot program, POLHN is sponsoring 13 dental assistants in American Samoa to take Penn Foster Career School's Dental Assistant Diploma. While the Diploma can be delivered entirely online, through POLHN the dental assistants will also undergo in-country, face-to-face skills validation. The dental assistants will be actively supported through their studies by their supervisors and the POLHN Secretariat. The aim of the pilot is to assess the curriculum's appropriateness and relevance to Pacific contexts. The pilot is also part of POLHN's transition from focusing on online learning to a blended learning approach.

This is an online 1 year program – paid for by WHO
