Continue to Resist

When our leaders say that certain books should not be read.

We read the books and share them with our families and friends and

We continue to resist.

When our leaders say that climate change isn't real so they can "drill baby drill."

We plant our trees, buy solar energy and

We continue to resist.

When our leaders say that colleges are teaching our kids "woke ideologies"

We send our kids to those schools for a good education and

We continue to resist.

When our leaders say that transgender people are evil and bad.

We open our doors and wave our rainbow flags and

We continue to resist.

When our leaders say that immigrants are "eating the cats and dogs."

We invite our immigrant neighbors into our homes for dinner and

We continue to resist.

When our leaders say that homeless people are criminals.

We volunteer and give back to the community and

We continue to resist.

When our leaders say that the darkest parts of our history should be removed from schools and museums.

We teach it to our kids and

We continue to resist.

When our leaders say that women should not have the right to choose.

We support them by offering refuge and

We continue to resist.

When our leaders say that vaccines cause autism.

We vaccinate our loved ones knowing it's not true and

We continue to resist.

When our leaders say that guns are not the problem with violence.

We promote peace and

We continue to resist.

When our leaders point fingers and blame the blue, woke, democrats for everything.

We offer to work together to find solutions to problems and

We continue to resist.

If we continue to listen to our leaders, we will have nothing left to resist.
