Greetings,

In the interest of our higher education institution, it is my pleasure to invite you to consider joining our School as a student, faculty or strategic partner. As the Founder and Chancellor, I want to share with you our excitement in this epoch moment. When governments are failing or floundering, I believe this is the perfect time for the Kingdom of God, the government from Heaven, to rise to the forefront of every sector of life here on Earth. C4GD School of Diplomatic Leadership was founded to equip and educate leaders whether experienced or emerging from all walks of life and from every nation Theological Diplomacy.

What is "theological diplomacy"? It is an ideal form for conducting earthly relations. This ideal is expressed in two words having profound meaning to the essence of our School. The term theological or theology is made up of theos, the Supreme Divinity; and of course, "ology" is the study of or a branch of knowledge. The term diplomacy is the profession, activity, or skill of managing international or global relations, typically by a country's representative abroad. Thus, Theological Diplomacy is a branch of knowledge from the Supreme Divinity known as God, also known as Lord and King, who has assigned to His representatives here on Earth, management of global or international relations according to His ideals.

While this School relies primarily on the Holy Bible or the Scriptures, it is my hope that it never becomes known as a religion or religious school. Religion has done everything to divide mankind going back as far as we can remember. The School has established itself as a higher education institution where academic thought from the Scriptures is providing mainstream or marketplace applications building highly effective and successful students, organizations and governments. Remember, we were given a government from Heaven, called the Kingdom of God. This government is not one that comes to compete or threaten existing forms of governments. However, it is purposed to become the Spirit of all human thought relative to politics, law, medicine, education, family, business or the like. This is why our School is a call to everyone, no matter your race, language, faith, fortune, government, or country.

So, it is with this understanding you are invited to become a part of our School. This outreach is not just for student enrollment. It is for everyone who can add value to the ideals of the diplomatic concepts constructed from the Scriptures to operate inside of democracies, republics, monarchies, federations, parliaments, etc. The essence of the School is to share tools for developing solutions designed to bring about righteousness, peace and joy to every government across the world.

Advancing the Kingdom,

B. Theron Williams, PhD, MBA, CPC
Founder and Chancellor
