Identifying Tomorrow's Issues in Students Today

Making Use of ACEs in SBHCs

Overview:

We all wish at times that we had a crystal ball, see the future and make changes to avert the worst. When it comes to children's health, we can gain insight into their potential future and begin building protective factors. Please join the West Virginia Primary Care Association for a half-day training to discuss Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and the far-reaching impact they have on West Virginia's children.

Childhood experiences, both positive and negative, have a tremendous impact on future violence, victimization and perpetrations, and lifelong health and opportunity. These early experiences are an important public health issue; in fact, ACEs have been linked to risky health behaviors, chronic health conditions, low life potential and early death. This workshop, also held in Beckley last August, will focus on how School-Based Health Centers (SBHCs) can improve the health of students through increasing the awareness of ACEs.

Please join other SBHC teams to learn about how SBHCs can use the ACEs screening tool as a way to identify students who are at risk for developing the aforementioned outcomes. Together, we will explore ways to intervene when ACEs scores are high.

Target Audience:

This training is targeted to School-Based Health Center Staff.

Objectives:

1. Improve the health of students through increasing awareness of trauma
2. Inform SBHC Staff what ACEs is and how it affects the health of our students
3. Demonstrate the use of ACEs screening in School-Based Health Centers
4. Explore ways to intervene on behalf of students when ACEs scores are high
