

Who we are

Language Professionals offer face-to-face interpretation services to non-English speakers or individuals with Limited English Proficiency to ensure access to legal, educational, healthcare and other social services.

We work with other non-profits, corporations and businesses to overcome linguistic or cultural challenges.

What we provide

The Language Professionals team of highly skilled interpreters understand that communication is key to successfully serve our clients. They strive to accurately transfer the message from one language to another while also caring to preserve cultural nuances that may influence the outcome of each session.

Language Professionals receive regular training.
