Dear Senior Parents and Families,

I would like to apologize to those families who have attempted to purchase yearbook ads through our vendor's website. With the design program not working properly, it has been a frustrating two months for all of us, and I am working on a couple of solutions. We have also extended the deadline for ads to Monday, February 17.

One solution is to give you the option to create an ad on your own and then email me the file. Canva, or programs from Adobe or Microsoft allow a good amount of control over the design and will output the design as a .jpg. Canva does offer a free version with several design options.

Please size your ad to the proper dimensions for your project. If it is an option, the ads should be 300 dpi, in addition to the sizes below.

Full Page ($250): 8" x 10.5"
Half Page ($150): 8" x 5.25"
Quarter Page ($100): 4" x 5.25"
Eighth Page ($70): 4" x 2.625"

Payment for ads can be made through our website at this link:

The second option is to try the current site. I was told yesterday that repairs have been made and the site is working correctly. I was just able to make an ad with no problems. I have seen one ad come through, and one parent told me there are still issues, so it seems to still be hit or miss, but it is worth a shot if you are more comfortable using the yearbook's site and have already uploaded images. If you have started a design, you should be able to access that design under the My Orders tab on the left.

The vendor has also proposed a third option and that is one of their alternate sites for creating ads. That site can be accessed here:

You will notice on the form that you can also purchase a yearbook. Please DO NOT purchase a yearbook for your senior through this form. Your senior will receive a yearbook as part of the Senior Fee (yearbook, cap and gown, prom and commencement tickets) they will pay later this spring. The details will be in a letter from the Headmaster's Office.

The yearbook portion is designed for underclassmen and family members who would like to have a copy.

Again, I apologize for any inconveniences. If you have any questions or problems, please reach out to me at steve.legge@stjacademy.org.

Thank you,
Steve
