בעזהי"ת

My grandfather, Zeidy, Reb Menashe [Max] Grablowsky, was a very fine religious Jew. He fought against the Reformers and he was from the founders of the Young Israel Movement which gave the American born youth - place that they could call their own, as they were not appreciated by the immigrant Europe Jewry. He was a soldier in General Persing's expeditionary force where he fought on the front lines in the European Conflict. He was very busy establishing Minyanim for the Jewish soldiers and seeing to it that they should come L'Kever Yisroel and at least that their grave should be marked by a Jewish symbol. He was a Mokir Rabannan and a Rachim Rabannan. He loved to learn and he loved living in ארץ ישראל . He is a great inspiration to all of his Descendants.
