Dear Colleagues,

Over the last 9 years, we have had the good fortune of considerable leadership stability at NCWWI. Working in partnership with skilled staff within a multi-university team, our knowledge management and dissemination efforts were led by Sara Munson and Nancy McDaniel.

Through their leadership of our dynamic team, we successfully reached a wide national audience with well-informed, creative and timely products designed to advance comprehensive workforce development.

This past month, NCWWI experienced our own workforce turnover, as Nancy retired and Sara announced her new position as a Senior Director of Knowledge Management with Casey Family Programs. We were very sad to see them go and will miss them dearly. Please join us in congratulating and wishing them the very best in their next life chapters. Nancy's retirement was well-deserved, and our field will continue to be strengthened and supported by Sara in her exciting new role at Casey.

The quality and timeliness of our resource development will not be interrupted by their departures as the balance of our team is still here-- creating, gathering, and disseminating workforce information to the field.. Prior to leaving, we worked with Sara and Nancy to develop a strong succession plan to seamlessly transfer LINKD co-leadership to us. We look forward to continuing to support your workforce development efforts through new products and resources. Please contact us any time with your suggestions or requests for information.

Sincerely,
