

Ms. Vitoria Vyakhoreva is the Director of Communications at Konstantin Khabensky Charitable Foundation, which works to ensure that children with oncological and other serious brain diseases receive all the necessary medical care on time and have the opportunity to return to a full and productive life. It does so by paying for the diagnosis and treatment of children, conducting informational work with parents, and improving the qualifications of doctors through courses and trainings. In her role at the Fund, Ms. Vyakhoreva manages all outside communications by developing communications strategy, preparing materials for mass media, managing social network accounts, and drafting speeches for the executive director.
