

Piotr Galitzine

Global CEO

Galitzine is a global CEO with track record of leading turnarounds and increasing shareholder value through sales and marketing strategies, optimizing technology and deploying regional/sector/industry best-practices in the industrials, steel and oil and gas industry. Expertise driving operational and commercial excellence and leading strategic portfolio reviews. Known for proactively synthesizing industry trends, technologies and economics to deliver results that support the long-term vision. Experience living and working in 20 countries on four continents; speaks six languages. Known for building and leading high performance and lean leadership teams.

TMK IPSCO [LSE:TMKS],
Chicago/Houston 2008 – 2020

US subsidiary of TMK, IPSCO is a producer of welded and seamless pipe and connections serving the oil and gas industry and other industrial markets. Acquired by Tenaris in January 2020; 2000 employees; $1.8 billion (FY 2018) revenues.

Chairman and Chief Executive Officer,
Houston, TX 2016 – 2020

Responsible for growing sales and production of steel pipe for oil and gas applications to record levels of over one million tons per year. Led this international $2 billion acquisition from integration, downsizing in the oil crisis and then through renewed growth, with higher profits, better market share and aggressive rollout of new products as the result. Took the company on an IPO journey through to multiple SEC filings, and later divested it to a strategic competitor. Successfully shepherded the company through a complex and lengthy regulatory and Department of Justice process.