

Ilya Aranovich, Global Licensing Manager, GTC Technology
US

Ilya Aranovich is a Global Licensing Manager based at GTC Technology's Houston headquarters, with responsibility for Clean Fuels and Aromatics production technologies, commercialization of first-of-a-kind technology. Prior to joining GTC in 2009, Mr. Aranovich earned a MS degree in chemical engineering from Moscow State University. From 2005 working as a scientific fellow at Unisit - a university based start-up company - he contributed to commercial projects for the development and scale-up of refinery and petrochemical technologies and is the inventor and patent co-author of several catalysts and process improvements.