TOPIC: "THE FRAGILITY OF PEACE: OUR REALITY, PRAYERS, AND FUTURE."

DESCRIPTION

Our prayers for peace run the gamut from eternal and everlasting world peace to internal and personalized peace for ourselves and our families. Yet week after week, our world reveals an increase of senseless hatred, anti-Semitism, and intolerance; the need for greater mental health awareness, outreach, and support; and the shift in the social and political climates of our country and in the Middle East.

- How can we possibly include all aspects of peace in our prayers?
- Which elements of peace are highlighted in or omitted from our personal and communal prayers?
- How do we define "peace" as we work together to build a better and more peaceful future?

We will explore these questions and more using current events, Jewish philosophy, and the liturgy of our siddur.
