ADDICTIONS & OPIATES: What's New, What's Next

FRIDAY, JUNE 14, 2019

Jean Hower Taber Student Union

The University of Akron

"Addictions & Opiates: What's New, What's Next" will be a day filled with innovative and inspirational ideas for everyone from the seasoned clinician to the grassroots organizer, educator and student.

WHAT'S NEW?

Choose from sessions in two tracks – clinical and community – and learn about best practices from leaders in addiction medicine from here and around the country. Equip yourself with motivating and actionable information that will enhance your perspective and knowledge about addiction.

WHAT'S NEXT?

Discover the next frontier of innovative and integrative approaches to healing and recovery, including the use of virtual and augmented reality in medicine and education.

Luncheon Keynote

Rachel Wurzman, Ph.D., director of science at SeekHealing
"Disconnected Brains: How isolation fuels opioid addiction"

Through her nonprofit, SeekHealing, Dr. Rachel Wurzman aims to reduce opioid overdose rates by building communities that are inherently resilient to addiction.

As a neuroscientist, she is passionate about two-way communication between the neuroscientific community and the public to inspire change in how people connect with one another and the world around them. Dr. Wurzman has authored more than 20 peer-reviewed articles and book chapters in the fields of neuroscience, neuroethics and policy.
