Join us as we visit two "Not-To-Be-Missed Art Exhibits at Waterworks Visual Arts Center, 123 E. Liberty St., Salisbury.

First, you'll see a Collection of European Modernist Masterpieces by artists Monet, Matisse, Pissarro, Chagall and Picasso, just to name a few. There are 38 works in all that have never been seen as an Exhibit, and they're being shown first in Salisbury!

The second Exhibit, "Past To Present," tells the story of Bostian Alley, a 1930's African American neighborhood in the small town of Salisbury. Photographs, taken in 1937, show the love and humor the people shared. Ten years later, the neighborhood was razed.

Today, thanks to artist, Maria Bennett Hock, those faces and photographs have been brought back to life in vintage-colored oils. It's a story that needs to be shared and remembered.
