Greetings school families,

I pray that you have had a restful fall break. We are excited for the students' return and the start of our second marking period.

I wanted to inform you of an upcoming free workshop sponsored by SCCS. On Tuesday, October 23, College Plan Today will be conducting a workshop on learning the secrets of making college affordable for your student. This workshop is open for all SCCS families because it is never too early to plan for college. The workshop is also open to the general public, so do not hesitate to invite a friend or neighbor who might benefit from it.

The workshop will be conducted in the Parish Hall at our St. Anthony's campus. Check-in begins at 6:15 p.m., and the workshop starts promptly at 6:30 p.m. The workshop will last about an hour and a half. For more details, check out the flyer in this newsletter or call the St. Anthony's office at 910.725.1368.

SCCS graduates citizens of excellence who observe, think, and articulate with humility, reason, and clarity for the glory of God. We educate all of our students in a way that they are prepared to go to college. I invite you to come out to this free event to best prepare to pay for college when it is time to send them off into that stage of their lives.
