The Behavioral Economics of Adolescent Eating: The Reinforcing Value of Food, Sensitization, and Weight Outcomes

Dr. Jennifer L. Temple, PhD, is a Professor, Associate Dean, and Director of the Nutrition and Health Research Laboratory at the University at Buffalo, where her NIH-funded work investigates ingestive behavior, obesity risk, and pediatric caffeine effects. A prolific author of over 100 publications and Deputy Editor-In-Chief of Appetite, she is a recognized leader and dedicated academic mentor in public health. She holds a PhD in Neuroscience from the University of Virginia and a BS in Psychology from Florida State University. Outside of her extensive research, teaching, and administrative leadership, she enjoys cooking, reading, and fostering dogs.
