I'm still here and so are you! Let's celebrate being alive and let's help make a difference!

I am excited to invite you to my 10 year survival, single release concert, and fundraiser! We'll be raising funds for two amazing foundations; the Foster Foundation and Friends of Karen's Adina's Angels Fund. The first was founded by Stacey Leondis a brilliant young woman I had the privilege of meeting during my time in treatment. The second is named after another amazing young woman who I met during chemotherapy; Adina Berkowitz. Both of these brave woman were taken far before their time. My wish for this celebration is to remember Stacey and Adina and help make a difference in the lives of the men, women, and children who are fighting for theirs.

Foster (Fighting Osteosarcoma Through Everyday Research) foundation raises funds to find a cure for Osteosarcoma. Although many current treatment options work, they often leave the patient extremely susceptible to other forms of cancer.

Adina's Angels Fund at Friends of Karen, helps raise money to help children and their families who are fighting life threatening diseases. It particularly strengthens support for siblings coping with their brother's or sister's illness. Friends of Karen provides emotional, financial and advocacy support to over 600 families a year.

There will be several different ways to donate on the night of, proceeds of which are going to both of these organizations. If you can't attend the event in New York City, but still wish to donate to these foundations, please visit the link below.

It is my hope to share this evening with as many survivors, amputees, and loved ones of those effected by any kind of struggle as possible. I can't wait to share my music and joy with you. This celebration is for you all, and it is going to be a blast!

Lost of love,
Maddy Ruff
