

Michelle on Groups + Committees

As a business owner, I am bombarded by groups to join and things to do. Trying to figure out what made the most sense for my business wasn't difficult. The St. Charles Chamber of Commerce offers the most opportunities for me to connect with other businesses, other community members, educational opportunities and even other nearby chambers all while being located here in my home town.

It has been a major blessing for me both personally and professionally to be a part of this amazing group of people. I believe that describing the groups that I am a part of will best explain the value I get from the chamber.

The WBC or the Women in Business committee is a group of women committed to organizing monthly educational events and raising money for charity, all while building personal relationships with each other. These women care deeply about each other and the community and it is an honor to be a part of this group.

The B2B round table group is for businesses who primary serve other businesses. We discuss challenges and opportunities we have in our businesses and help each other grow stronger by providing a sounding board of ideas and information. We meet twice per month and also create events for the B2B space to get together and interact monthly.

The WBC or the Women in Business committee is a group of women committed to organizing monthly educational events and raising money for charity, all while building personal relationships with each other. These women care deeply about each other and the community and it is an honor to be a part of this group.

The marketing committee helped with the new Chamber website which will further the opportunities for people to located other members and connect.

If you want to connect with other members of the community, I would whole heartedly recommend the St. Charles Chamber of Commerce.

Michelle Bottino
Fully Promoted

