

Cordage Institute Postpones Annual Conference & Anniversary Celebration to November 9-11, 2021

Please mark your calendar for the Cordage Institute's Annual Conference and 100th Anniversary Celebration on November 9-11, 2021 at The Greenbrier in White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia.

To commemorate the Cordage Institute's 100th anniversary, a special President's Night Reception and Dinner, featuring a black-tie optional dress code, is being planned for Wednesday, November 10th. The evening will feature entertainment, a group photo, presentation of the Gale Foster Award of Merit and the Richards Technical Contribution Awards, and several surprises.

The program will also feature technical working group meetings, a meeting of the Technical Committee, the annual business meeting, a technical seminar, the Annual Gale Foster Memorial Golf Tournament, and plenty of opportunities to interact and connect with Cordage Institute members and industry professionals.

Located amid the breathtaking mountains of West Virginia, The Greenbrier is a National Historic Landmark and world-class resort that has been welcoming guests from around the world since 1778. With a guest list that includes 27 of 45 U.S. Presidents, the resort has long been a favorite destination of royalty, celebrities, and business leaders.

Resort highlights include three picturesque golf courses; a world-renowned spa offering a variety of massages, facials, and treatments; a dining collection of 20 restaurants, lounges, and bars; The Greenbrier Casino Club, which was recently ranked the 18th Best Casino in America according to TripAdvisor reviews; an extensive retail collection with over 35 shops and boutiques; over 55 indoor and outdoor activities; and the declassified Bunker at The Greenbrier, a
