

New Blessed Frederic Ozanam Mosaic Fund needs your Support

The Basilica of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception (the Shrine) is the largest Marian shrine in the Western hemisphere, located on the Catholic University of American campus in Washington, DC. The massive structure is known as:

- The largest Roman Catholic Church in North America
- One of the ten largest Catholic Churches in the world
- The world's largest collection of ecclesiastical art
- Brilliant mosaics, stained glass windows, and polished stone carvings throughout its more than 80 chapels and oratories.

The Basilica of the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception.

Artist's rendering of the new Blessed Frederic Ozanam Mosaic.

Within is the Vincentian Chapel, featuring St. Vincent and St. Louise de Marillac statues, as well as one dedicated to the Miraculous Medal. It is in this chapel Blessed Antoine Frederic Ozanam will be enshrined by permanently mounting this beautiful mosaic. (see graphic to the left)

This artist's rendering has just been authorized for a permanent installation in the Vincentian chapel. The mosaic artwork depicts our Society's founder Blessed Antoine Frederic Ozanam. The Society has agreed to raise funds for the mosaic art and its installation, along with a celebratory Mass and reception on January 26, 2020. All in time for the 175th anniversary celebration!

Please consider giving to this exceptional recognition of our founder, where millions of visitors will see it for many years to come! What a wonderful opportunity for the Society!
