

HISTORY AND THE ARTS ARE ALIVE ON BANNERMAN ISLAND!

Photo by Neil Caplan

You are invited to visit
Bannerman Castle on Pollepel Island!
(Commonly known as Bannerman Island)

Bannerman Castle was built from 1901 to 1918 by Frank Bannerman IV as a warehouse to store his collection of antique military equipment from the Spanish American and Civil Wars. Bannerman was the father of the Army Navy store. His world famous catalog of military equipment and history became the "go to" source for collectors.

The island housed seven structures that formed the Scottish baronial castle, including: workers' apartments, a summer residence and beautiful trails and gardens.

A great fire in 1969 destroyed the interiors and left the shells you see today. Bannerman Island opened for tours in 2004.

The Bannerman Castle
Trust is a not-for-profit
501(3)c "Friends"
organization working with The New York
State Office of Parks, Recreation and Historic Preservation.

The Trust has been working since 1993 to preserve and protect Bannerman Castle on Pollepel Island as a cultural, historical and recreational site, promoting heritage tourism in the Hudson Valley.

We have made many accomplishments in the fight to save Bannerman Castle, including stabilizing the "Tower Wall" and the family residence. In 2017 we opened the Bannerman residence first floor as a visitor center and with the help of the West Point Cadet Engineering class of 2017, we rebuilt the historic bridge that crossed from the North Trail to the island summit. Stabilization work is still needed to ensure the future of the main castle and the tower structures in the breakwater. Your tour visits help with the preservation efforts. Donations are welcome!
