

Norm Spatz

A proud product of New Jersey, Norm Spatz is an equally proud immigrant to Canada. After a decade and a half working in Montreal as an architect specializing in residential renovation, Norm won a number of honours including mentions from the City of Montreal and First Prize in the 1982 Crédit Foncier Award sponsored by Heritage Canada. He was also a founder of the historic walking tour program of Save Montreal in 1982 which is currently administered by Heritage Montreal.

Norm entered Quebec's junior college system, the cegeps, in 1989 teaching Architectural Technology in French. He retired teaching English as a Second Language. In between he became the English Editor of a Ministry website to promote the use of Information Technology in cegeps. Retired in 2015, Norm now has time for other activities such as acting in theatre, giving historical walking tours and writing fiction.

Married to Rita Bauer in 1985, they have one son Sam.
