

Seeking Entries for New Exhibit: Moonshining the Arts: Reflections on Canvas

February 4, 2020

Dear Artists,

We are pleased to invite you to create a new work of art for the show, Moonshining the Arts: Reflections on Canvas, April 4-25, 2020 at the Franklin County Public Library in Rocky Mount. Artists can be based anywhere; you do not have to be from Franklin County to participate in the show.

This year marks a milestone in American history: The Centennial of the passage of Prohibition and the start of an extraordinary era with lessons and legacies relevant to today. Prohibition encompassed greed and glitz, godliness and gluttony. It went from boom to bust, from the Roaring Twenties to the beginning of the Great Depression. It was the time of women's suffrage, the literary movements of the Lost Generation and Harlem Renaissance, changes in music, fashion and the arts, and debates over morality, individual freedom and the will of government.

Locally, Franklin County Moonshine Heritage Month—held every April—showcases the County's place in American history. Its heritage is far more complex than the making of alcohol. It's about trying to beat the odds in impoverished, rural communities. It's about the survival of families and farms. It's about mountain life, the settlers and traditions of Appalachia, and geography. And it's about the fast cars of bootleggers and the other well known aspects of moonshining. Franklin County is proof there's more to moonshine than meets the eye.

Moonshining the Arts: Reflections on Canvas encourages artists to look back in history, to consider the influences of the Prohibition era on present day, and to interpret Franklin County's role in the American moonshining story. For more information, please see the resources on the back of this letter and the attached entry form. We hope you'll join us in shining a light on a singular time and place in the heritage of America.

Sincerely yours,
