More about Tony Sgarlata,

He currently lives in Lake Worth, Florida where his career is focused on USEF judging throughout the United States and Canada. Tony is known in the industry as a trainer that has prepared horses and ponies for all levels of showing. Tony’s career also allowed him the opportunity to buy and sell horses in the United States and Internationally. He has trained, coached and has been involved in the sales of Zone and National Champions. His philosophy is to give back to the sport with the skills and expertise he has learned from working with talented trainers and riders. Throughout the clinic, Tony will interact with each rider to enhance their skills and gain a better understanding of what is expected when showing and how USEF Judges score.
